FAVOR WATSON MORE THAN NEW

Progressives Find Rushville Man
Less Distasteful Than Opponent, Crumbacker Says

DISTRICT CHAIRMAN TALKS

Declares That if Watson is to be Condemned, What of New Who
Was on The Committee

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—From the headquarters of James E. Watson, Republican candidate for United States senator, there was issued today a statement signed by Samuel Crumbacker, Progressive district chairman of the first district, in which Crumbacker says that Watson is less distasteful to the Progressives than is Harry New, Watson's opponent.

"If Mr. Watson is to be condemned for his action at the Chicago convention, how much more offensive must Mr. New's action and conduct have been, because Mr. Watson served merely in the capacity of parliamentarian while Mr. New participated in the contest that came before his committee, advocating and voting for the unseating of Roosevelt delegates," said the statement, which was as follows:

"I am informed by the newspapers that some former Progressives are going to vote at the Republican primary, to be held in this state on the seventh day of next March and that it has been urged upon them that in the race for United States senator they should support Mr. New in preference to Mr. Watson.

"The reason given is that Mr. Watson was unfriendly to the Roosevelt supporters at the 1912 Republican convention in Chicago.

"If Mr. Watson is to be condemned for his actions at that convention how much more offensive must Mr. New's actions and conduct have been because Mr. Watson served merely in the capacity of a parliamentarian, performing his duties in open convention while Mr. New participated in the contest which came before his committee, advocating and voting for the unseating of the Roosevelt delegates.

"I have always admired any man for the open and above board manner of fighting both in conventions and in campaigning and I am glad to know Jim is at least fighting in the open, and not hiding behind others or trying to deceive the people of Indiana with letters without a date.

"Mr. Watson is a man of long political experience and great ability and would better represent the state of Indiana in the United States senate than any other Republican candidate before the people and I am free to say that in my judgment that he would be preferred by the undersigned in the event I were anticipating going into the primary and voting for the nomination of Republican candidates.

"While this is not my fight up to date, and I am not asked by anyone to make any statement whatever in this matter I simply feel that if Mr. Watson is to be defeated by Mr.

Congratulations To--

Levi Retherford, who is eighty-one years old today. Mr. Retherford is one of the oldest citizens of the city and is enjoying good health. He is a native of Bourbon county, Kentucky, and was born January 26, 1835. He came to this county with his parents when two years old and has been a resident here ever since. He is widely known in the city and county.

New it should be on some other ground than that of appealing to the Progressives or Progressive Republicans for their support in the primaries.

(Signed),
SAMUEL CRUMBACKER,
Progressive chairman of the first district.

OPINION WRITTEN BY JUSTICE MORRIS

State Supreme Court Sustains Municipal Judge in Appointment of Special Prosecutor

TO CONDUCT BRIBE CASES

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—The state supreme court today sustained Judge Frank Ellis of the Delaware circuit court in his contention that he had a right to appoint special prosecutors to prosecute city officials and others making grafting charges in Muncie, Ind. The opinion was written by Chief Justice Morris, Justices Spencer and Erwin dissenting. The decision will be followed by vigorous prosecution of the charges in Muncie.

State wide attention was directed to Muncie last February when the grand jury returned indictments against Mayor Rollin H. Bunch, Deputy Prosecutor Williams, Chief of Police McIlvaine and members of the board of police commissioners, all Democrats, alleging gross civil irregularities.

BIDS GOOD-BYE TO SHORT COURSE

Banquet Tonight Will be Farewell to
First Farmers Meeting of Kind
Ever Held Here.

LAST CLASSES HELD TODAY

Sectional Meetings Regarding Live
Stock, Soil and Kindred Topics
Occupy Attention.

This afternoon the farmers short course, the first of its kind ever held here, became a matter of history and the only remaining affair relating to the week's program was the farmers banquet which will be held at six o'clock at the Graham Annex gymnasium.

The ticket sale increased when it was learned yesterday that George I. Christie, head of the Purdue extension department, had finally consented to come and would deliver the principal address. Other toasts will be responded to by local men and there will be five musical numbers, which give promise of making the evening a most entertaining and helpful one.

Profitable Dairy Cows

W. O. Mills delivered the opening lecture at the Graham Annex this morning, speaking on "Profitable Dairy Cows," as follows:

"The profits on the average dairy farm can easily be doubled. As the cost of feeding materials rises there is a greater need of careful attention to cost of production. Better cows, better methods and better dairymen have most to do with increasing profits. Cows vary much as to the cost of their product. This variation can be seen even among the members of a relatively well bred herd. The dairy cow uses up large quantities of farm products such as grain, hay and silage. What does she give you for them, and for your work? Does the cow give you market price or much more than market price or does she give much less than market price for the corn, hay, etc., she consumes? A town has two elevators. One pays a cent a bushel more than the other for grain. What farmer would knowingly sell his grain to the one paying the lowest price? Yet farmers often keep cows that pay 25 cents a bushel for grain, while others in the same herd, or others that can be obtained at reasonable prices will pay 75 cents a bushel or more. This difference in cows is not as easy to see as the difference in prices at the elevators, but there is a difference. Careful handling, careful record keeping is necessary, so as to avoid the unprofitable cows. Weed out the boarders, use good pure bred bulls of one of the dairy breeds. The pure bred bull is of great importance. Haphazard breeding will never get us far in the improvement of our dairy cows. Select a dairy breed and stay with it. Cross breeding defeats the very purpose for which breeds have been established.

"Larger profits then are going to come by keeping individual cow records, but the use of the pure bred bull, by proper care and handling, and in addition by the sale of surplus stock from the good herd.

Indiana needs better cows more than it needs more cows."

"Over one-half of my little chicks died the first three weeks. They just dumped around and would not eat, and in the morning I would find them dead. What ailed them?"

"This," said L. L. Jones to the home economics class this morning, "is a fair sample of the many disease questions which are sent in to Purdue, and are very hard to answer accurately. Our first effort in

SHOWS GROWTH OF NEW INDUSTRY

Modern Building Entered Today by Twentieth Century Cleaners and Pressers, a New Firm.

IN BUSINESS OVER TWO YEARS

New Home and Equipment Represents an Investment of Approximately $9,000.

One of Rushville's baby industries has outgrown its old home and is now located in a new and modern building in the rear of the Elks lodge. This industry is known as the Twentieth Century Cleaners and Pressers. The business is owned by C. L. Bebout and Merrill Ball. The work of moving the equipment to the new building was completed today and the firm is now ready to do business at the new location.

The new building and plant speaks for the rapid growth of this firm. The company was organized September 18, 1913. It was a new thing to Rushville and from the very start the success has been great. The new building and equipment represents an outlay of approximately $9,000 and the firm has become an established organization in Rushville business life.

The new building is of concrete and was started late last fall. The exterior has not been completed as the weather would not permit it. The walls are to be stuccoed the coming spring. All of the various departments of the firm are now located under the one roof. Before moving, the pressing department was located in the rear of the Betker store. One of the big changes in the new location is in the arrangement of the boiler room and the cleaning department was located in the rear partment. The gasoline tanks are all under ground and the wash room is entirely of cement and is as nearly fire-proof as could be made.

The building is well lighted from side windows and sky-lights. The boiler room and washing department are in the rear. In the middle room a new department of the plant is located, the carpet department. Herebefore the firm has not made an effort to dry clean carpets, but in the new location this will be one of the features of the business.

The pressing department and office are in the front of the building. The new plant is heated by steam and the entire arrangement is fashioned after the most modern plants in the country. An inspection of the plant is welcomed by the owners.

MANAGER TALKS TO TRABUE

S. L. Trabue, president of the Chamber of Commerce, today received a telephone message from J. H. Staly, manager of the Continental Auto Parts company of Franklin, Ind., that the company is looking for a new location and has been advised to come to Rushville. The manager referred the Rushville commercial organization to E. R. Titsworth, trustee of Noble township, for information as to the nature and extent of their business.

The company now employs eight high class mechanics and expects to employ more when located. They build Continental cars upon order and manufacture all the parts of the car. They will require from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet of floor space and prefer a building of two or three stories. The company is capitalized at $15,000.

A hand book on automobile information says that the Continental machine is made by Martindale and Milliken.

NO JURISDICTION ON 1ST CLASS MAIL

This is Contention of American Note
to England, to Which Tentative
Reply is Received

SEIZURE IS CONTESTED

(By United Press.)
Washington, Jan. 26.—England has made a tentative reply to the American note protesting against seizure of mail between America and neutral countries. The state department today announced the plan to make the American note and reply public Friday.

The American protest is understood to have been based on the contention that Great Britain has no jurisdiction over first class mail bound for neutral countries. Under international law England has a right to censor all mail which is routed through a British port, but may not censor mail bound directly to a neutral port but forced while enroute to enter a British port.

FINAL PROPOSAL IS MADE TODAY

United States Endeavors to Settle
Lusitania Case by Setting
Forth Position Plainly

NOTE HANDED TO BERNSTORFF

This Government Says Germany
Must Admit Illegality of Sinking
of The Vessel

(By United Press.)
Washington, Jan. 26.—Secretary of State Lansing today delivered to Ambassador Bernstorff for transmission to Berlin final proposals of the United States for settlement of the Lusitania case.

Bernstorff was summoned to the state department shortly before noon. Lansing submitted the second proposal setting forth in unequivocal terms the position of the United States government that Germany must admit the illegality of the sinking of the Lusitania with the loss of more than 100 American lives. Arrangements were made that Ambassador Bernstorff should cable this communication to his government at once.

Nothing further will be done until the note is answered.

The German ambassador carried no communication with him when he went into Lansing's office. He had in his hand a card on which were a few written notes, presumably a few suggestions for the memorandum to be sent to Berlin.

After his conference the German ambassador dictated a message to a state department stenographer. It was presumed it was the code message to Berlin containing the United States note.

DEBT INCREASES UNDER NEW PLAN

Des Moines Form of Commission Government is Branded a Failure And Councilman Quits

POLITICS NOT ELIMINATED

Been in Force Seven Years And Now They Want Manager Form of Government

(By United Press.)

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 26.—The so-called Des Moines plan of city government, one of the first forms of Commission government, which attracted much favorable attention the country over when it was adopted seven years ago, is branded a failure by Councilman W. F. Mitchell and a considerable percentage of the citizens.

Mitchell was put into office to see if he couldn't reorganize affairs and make the plan successful. His resignation is tendered today, effective this spring. Mitchell says the City Manager plan should be adopted by Des Moines.

The bonded and floating indebtedness of Des Moines has increased nearly $1,000,000 since the plan was put in force seven years ago. The plan was heralded as one that would eliminate partisan politics from all municipal elections, place the responsibility for the success or failure of the city government upon the heads of the individual commissioners and generally make for economy and efficiency.

Mitchell says politics has not been eliminated and that financially the plan has accomplished no good. Mitchell favors electing councilmen by districts rather than at large, paying them for one meeting a week. He believes all municipal executive control should be vested in the City Manager, together with power to enforce all laws and ordinances and to control all city work. Mitchell believes this would kill the political phase, he believes has made the old Des Moines plan useless.

FATS AND OILS TO BE CONTRABAND

Expected England Will Soon Place These Two Necessities on List Not to be Shipped

JUST AS SHE DID COTTON

Great Britain Fixes Attention More on American Friendship Than Germany's Defeat

By WILBUR S. FORREST
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Jan. 5.—(By Mail) Great Britain is expected soon to put fats and oils on the list of absolute contraband, just as it did with cotton. Scientists have been demanding that this be done for some time, saying it is the ignorance of government officials concerning the use of fats and oils in the manufacture of high explosives which has left this raw material supply open to Germany this long.

Prof. E. B. Poulton of Oxford calls it "the national neglect of science," saying in part: "It is dangerous that a country which depends on science for its existence and prosperity should be ruled by politicians and civil servants who, with hardly an exception, are utterly ignorant of science. Lawyer politicians, fixing their attention more steadily on American friendship than German defeat, have permitted the export from England of materials for propulsive ammunition—fats and oils."

Cotton is already on the absolute contraband list, this action having been taken after a widespread campaign by scientists who claimed that cotton exported to Germany was merely so much ammunition for the German army. Sir William Ramsay, leader of the scientists' campaign against cotton has begun a campaign against fats and oils which he says, are vital to German ammunition making.

Sir William declared today: "One third of German ammunition for heavy guns consists of nitro-glycerine; and fats are the source of glycerine. I really can't understand the incredible folly of going on providing the Germans with means of killing our men. Untold thousands of lives and an ever growing volume of human misery are a terrible punishment for the neglect of science. It is possible that military experts are mistaken in thinking the final decision in this war can be reached by fighting. It may have to be reached by economic and financial pressure."

"England's official ignorance of science as applied to war has lengthened the struggle," Sir William declared, continuing: "If the government had seriously considered this possibility at the outset and made preparations accordingly, asking for and accepting advice on the subject, the war long would have been over." Many well known British scientists have joined Sir William in his newest campaign against the export of fats and oils. It's predicted that the government soon will turn to the Navy the question of keeping Germany from getting these commodities.

WAR POETRY IS SENT FROM FRONT

Former University Student at California Writes of His Experiences in Trenches

NOW SERVING AS LIEUTENANT

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

"Sing me to sleep where bullets fall,
"Let me forget the war and all;
"Damp is my dugout, cold my feet,
"Nothing but bully and biscuits to eat."

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 24.—Before he went to war, Jack Burnet was a student at the University of California. His college companions often have wondered about how fortune has served him since he went back to fight for King and Country. Today they have heard from him and he's a Lieutenant "somewhere at the British front." In a letter to an old college chum here he writes his impressions of trench warfare in verse. Among other things he remarks in prose, however, is this: "The Hun gets rough and hurls buildings, bridges, shells, gas, fire, bullets, whizz bags and a few other incidentals at us, but bar spilling a bit of good British blood, he doesn't accomplish much." But still Burnet goes on:

"Sing me to sleep where bombs explode,
"And shrapnel shells are a la mode.
"Over the sandbags, helmets you'll find,
"Corpses in front of you, corpses behind."

Burnet writes a lot of "close shaves," but not close enough so he could get a trip back to that "dear little nurse at the base." And then again:

"Sing me to sleep where the camp-fires glow
"Full of French bread and cafe l'eau
"Dreaming of home and nights in the west
"Somebody's 'overseas' boots on my chest."

"This game is 'ell and no mistake," the cheerful poet concludes.

Willard Brown, employed on the Cullen farm west of the city, was painfully injured yesterday while "breaking" a colt. The colt fell backwards on Mr. Brown and he was badly mashed and bruised. No bones were broken.

Since the sale of the C. H. & D. and the renaming of the road as the C. I. & W., Paul M. Havens, formerly of this city, who was employed by the C. H. & D. for a number of years, has been promoted to the position of commercial agent of the C. I. & W., with offices at 908 Majestic building, Indianapolis.

Much complaint has been made lately about many persons using the city park for a driveway. It is said that owners of vehicles have been in the habit of driving down the cinder path running from the gates to the chautauqua, around the coliseum and thence through the park to Tenth street. In this sort of weather, the vehicles have cut up the sod and have materially damaged the appearance of the park. It is reported attention of the mayor and councilmen has been called to this and that they will stop the practice.

Amusements

The Princess offers a double program for tonight showing the next installment of "Neal of the Navy," and two single reels "The Kidnaped Heiress" and "The Girl and the Special." Marguerite Cortot is featured in "The Kidnaped Heiress" and it is said to be a thrilling drama. In the last picture Helen Gibson is featured. Tomorrow night the three act drama "A Bit of Lace" will be shown. Darwin Karr and Edna Mayo are featured. On Friday night the big feature "The Cave Man" will be shown. Robert Edson, Fay Wallace, Lillian Burns and George de Beck are featured. Madeline Mischief, a society leader, becomes tired of the ceaseless round of balls, parties and teas and seeks real adventure. She makes a wager with Dolly Van Dream, her most intimate friend, that she can pick at random from the "submerged tenth" and make a social lion of him, without his being discovered. From this the action develops rapidly and the picture is replete with splendid scenes and action.

The Gem will show a two reel drama "Manna" for the first picture tonight. Edna Maison is featured and it is said to tell how a girl was rescued from the clutches of white slavers. The other picture is a comedy entitled "Disguised but Discovered." Hank Mann is featured and this alone insures a good comedy. Tomorrow night the two reel feature "The Connecting Link" will be shown, in which Sherman

SAYS MASHERS ARE WRONG IN THE HEAD

Brooklyn Magistrate Declares They Should All be Placed in an Insane Asylum

RECEIVE NO MERCY FROM HIM

New York, Jan. 24.—"Mashers, ogles of women and so-called flirts must be slightly unbalanced mentally and fit subjects for the insane asylum," declared Magistrate John C. McGuire of Brooklyn today, discussing the number of such cases that are brought before him. These mashers receive no money from me after they have annoyed women and young girls. And man who tries to make love to a strange woman as she passes him in the street certainly is wrong in the head. I send lots of these fellows to the Kings County Hospital for mental observations and you bet I'll see to it that all of them found guilty in my court will continue to be sent there. The public thoroughfare absolutely must be safeguarded for women and little girls."

The above statement was given on July 22, 1912, and on Aug. 25, 1915, Mr. Conner said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since giving my former endorsement, telling what they did for me. I believe the cure is permanent."

Money And Its Making

To make money is comparatively easy. To save it is more difficult.

To make it grow is a problem.

And not all of us are able to solve the problem.

But if ever there was a time when we faced the opportunities for making money grow, that time is now.

Everybody knows that the prosperity of the nation depends primarily upon the farmer and his crops. If he plants in large acreages, and nature is good to him, his yield is bountiful and he becomes the harbinger of an era of prosperity.

When the farmer is plentifully supplied with funds he wants new machinery and more machinery, and the making of these gives employment to millions of people.

These people in turn have money to spend and the merchant begins to increase the volume of his business and gather in greater profits.

And as it is with these, so it is all down the line and extending into every industry and into every home.

This year the farmers of this country marketed the greatest crop in history, the total value of the leading crops reaching the astounding figure of over $5,280,000,000. This exceeds last year's yield by over $415,000,000.

The making of money by the people of this community this year will depend greatly upon the farmers of our community. If they increase their acreage the wealth of the community will be enhanced in proportion, and through the logical routine of barter and trade it finds its way into every artery of town, farm and countryside.

The year will witness a tremendous demand for farm products. This demand will come from every section of the globe and the buyer pays in gold.

For this reason we urge upon every farmer the advisability, even the vital importance, of cultivating every possible foot of ground, even to the doubling of your acreage if such a thing be within the bounds of possibility.

The opportunity for making money is before you—the greatest you have ever seen, possibly greater than you will ever see again.

You are our mainstay, our backbone, the one man upon whom we all depend, to whom we all turn as the child turns to its mother.

Your success will be our success, your prosperity our prosperity, your advancement our advancement.

You are the man of the hour, and the opportunity is before you.

The latest issue of the Federal Reserve Bulletin, organ of the Federal Reserve Banking system, runs true to form in that it shows about 66 per cent of all the discount business for November to have been done in those favored centers, Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas. The same issue also contains a notice of an assessment upon the member banks to pay the cost of operating the system. Are Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas to pay per cent of this assessment? Nay, nay, Pauline. All the member banks, everywhere, will pay their little one-tenth of one per cent on their stock in the Reserve Bank to pay the cost of maintaining an institution which chiefly benefits Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas. Is the South in the saddle?

Washington became wildly excited the other day over a report that Postmaster General Burleson was to resign in order to try for the Senatorship from Texas. Burleson promptly denied the story. He may run Senator, but he certainly will not resign his present job. The precedents are all against it. Franklin Roosevelt did not resign as Assistant Secretary of the Navy when he went into the Senatorial primary in New York in 1914. The motto of this administration, be it understood, is "Safety first."

Business failures in 1915 were about 4,000 more than in 1914, but the total liabilities were about $56,000,000 less. This means that big concerns, dealing in war orders and otherwise benefited by the champagne prosperity of the moment, managed to avoid receivership—while the smaller manufacturer and the retailer, whose prosperity depends upon the orders which his neighbors give him and upon their ability to pay for what they buy, had to go under. The "prosperity" of the country is, as Congressman Humphrey says, "local, spotted, temporary, spasmodic."

Hail to sweet womanhood! Without her we wouldn't have any kind of a hood.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

The Chicago Fiasco.

The last attempted uprising had been set for Chicago at the time of the meeting of the National Democratic convention. The increase of the federal garrison at Chicago led to the rumor that the convention would be molested. This was probably the occasion of a statement of the Indiana Democratic Committee, advising Democrats to arm. But when the conspirators, joined by sixty Confederate soldiers from Canada, met in Chicago, they found themselves utterly unprepared for revolt. They were leaders without organized following. They had difficulty in finding each other in thronged Chicago, and nothing was done. After the example of the King of France and his forty thousand men—they had marched up to Chicago, and then marched home again.

The "One Hundred Days" Movement.

Meanwhile, throughout the activities of the treasonable secret associations in Indiana, the state continued all available troops for pushing the war to a conclusion, thousands of veteran soldiers were doing garrison duty in the North. To relieve them for active service, Morton conceived the idea of enlisting new men who could do the garrison duty. Calling upon governors of Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Iowa to act with him, they united in offering Lincoln $5,000 men from these states for a term of one hundred days. Indiana furnished her share, many of the one hundred day men re-enlisting in answer to the last appeals for volunteers.

Newspaper Comment on Watson Candidacy

No Man is Abler

(Washington Herald)

James E. Watson's qualifications for a representative office are superior. In him are concentrated the essential features for legislative leadership. With a Republican congress and Watson in the senate from this state, Indiana at once would become the dominating influence in national legislation. With such an asset, wouldn't it be folly for the Indiana Republicans to fail to avail themselves of the opportunity offered them? No man is abler than Watson to represent and interpret the one overshadowing issue of the pending campaign, the protective tariff. And no man is better fitted than he to take the lead in the national legislature in rewriting on the statute books a law which shall restore the protective feature of the tariff. The Republican party must stand or fall on that momentous issue, and in the forefront of the battle our best material be placed if we are to succeed.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

A Suggestive Argument in Favor of Preparedness

The present session of congress will be the most important in its scope since the civil war.

Millions will be appropriated for defense. The traditional policies of the government will probably be revolutionized.

The Army and Navy

will have more money at its disposal during the next few years than ever before during time of peace. Our diplomatic relations with some of the countries at war may be suspended at any time, War may possibly follow such action on our part.

Peace May Be Declared

during the new year between the countries now at war, and it is assumed that the United States will become the chief arbitrator, if it is able to remain neutral until such time.

Mexico

is in a reconstructive period, and continues to make history of the most pitiful type.

The National Conventions Will be Held in June

This is presidential year. President Wilson will probably be endorsed again by the Democrats and be renominated. Who the Republican candidate will be is yet a matter of speculation. These are only a few of the big things the leading newspapers of the country will tell about. In the meantime all the news of interest to the home and to women and children is not to be neglected.

Everybody Should be Prepared to keep posted on these all-important events and no American citizen should remain in ignorance of what is going on. No person can expect to keep posted on the affairs of the big wide world unless he reads a metropolitan newspaper. The local paper, which gives him the items from his immediate neighborhood covers its field, which is from force of circumstances, confined to a small radius.

The Indianapolis News

has every existing facility for gathering news. It is a client of the two great press associations, THE ASSOCIATED PRESS and THE UNITED PRESS, which cover every part of the globe.

Its Washington bureau is manned by an experienced staff of writers, and in the state of Indiana, there are over 800 correspondents, covering practically every hamlet, town and city.

Illinois.

(By United Press.)

Kokomo, Jan. 26.—Divorced twenty years ago, but charged with bigamy because he failed to pay the court costs incident to that divorce—that was the situation faced today by W. E. Hart. His bigamy trial was set for today, but Hart and his attorneys predicted that Prosecutor Strode would dismiss the case.

Hart was divorced in 1896 in Charleston, Ill. Either through ignorance or because of neglect he failed to pay the costs. The divorce decree was never entered, and when the enterprising local authorities learned of his case the grand jury was prevailed upon to return a bigamy indictment.

Since the indictment was returned, Hart has paid the Illinois costs, and the divorce decree was entered under date of 1896, so that Hart has been legally divorced for twenty years so far as official records go.

FINE LINE OF ENTERTAINMENT

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 26.—The ancient feud between cattle and sheep men, dating back to the old days of the open range when the rival stockmen were wont to shoot on sight, was officially declared off today. The American Live Stock association and the National Sheep Growers' association began their annual conventions here together. About 10,000 delegates are in attendance, representing every feeding district west of Chicago. The cattle men will make a fight for an open market and against light competition by the packers. Practically every state organization already is pledged to back this campaign. The entertainment program will include roping, branding and riding contests; afternoons at the Juarez races, bull fights, open air barbecues and military drills at Fort Bliss. The convention will last three days.

CENTENNIAL NEWS LETTER.

(Issued by the Indiana Historical Commission.)

Centennial Parks.

Before a large audience of business men assembled at the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, January 8th, Enos O. Mills of Colorado declared that the most fitting and valuable recognition of our Centennial that could be made would be the creation of a system of state parks. Mr. Mills is the leader in the great public park movement in the United States, and is a recognized authority on the out of doors life of the wild and picturesque places of America.

While the centralizing of population and the passing of our frontier, Mr. Mills asserts that it is imperative for the health and happiness of our people that rugged, scenic areas be set off and preserved as public recreation and play grounds and as the unmolested homes of wild life. He stated that there are several such places in Indiana which should be secured, among which he mentioned the sand dunes of Lake Michigan, a section of Brown county, and Turkey Run.

In regard to the latter, Mrs. Juliet V. Strauss, the Country Contributor and member of the Turkey Run Commission, emphasized the necessity of prompt action if Turkey Run is to be saved, as the estate of which it is a part is to be sold at auction in March. The appraised value of that part which would be necessary for park purposes is in round numbers only Fifteen Thousand ($15,000.00) Dollars, and to lose this natural beauty spot in default of that sum would be a reproach to the citizens of Indiana and especially so in this, our Centennial Year.

Tippecanoe Prepares.

The Tippecanoe County Committee has named the period within the dates May 21 and May 26 as the time of the Tippecanoe celebration. It will crystallize about the five great institutions, viz: The home, the school, the church, the state, and the industrial community. Thursday, May 25, will be civic or historic day and will be the big day of the week.

Centennial Centenarian.

Fulton County boasts the distinction of a Centennial Centenarian in the person of Ephraim Lowman. His one hundredth birthday occurs this summer, in the very middle of 1916, and D. L. Barnhart, Fulton County's Centennial Chairman, expects Mr. Lowman to be a prominent figure in their county observance.

CONNERSVILLE TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Locals Hope to Avenge Defeat Suffered Earlier in Season—Independents Play Fairview.

TWO GOOD GAMES ASSURED

The Connersville high school team will be the attraction Friday night at the Graham Annex. The Rushville team is especially anxious to win this game. One reason is to avenge a defeat suffered at the hands of Connersville. The Rushville team would rather lose all the games on its schedule than lose to Connersville on the home floor.

As a result of this rivalry the largest crowd of the season is expected. A real game can also be expected as the two teams always fight the hardest when they meet. A large crowd of Connersville rooters are coming for the game. The Rushville Independents will play the Fairview Independents in a curtain raiser. The curtain raiser will start at seven-thirty and the big game will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock. The door to the gym will open at 7:15 o'clock.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold. Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF, ACHING JOINTS

Rub Soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacobs Oil

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia. Limber up! Get a 25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

Society and Club News

Edited by MISS FRANCES FRAZEE

The Cross Country Club will be entertained tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. Chester Cross, at her home near the city.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist church had an interesting and helpful meeting at the church this afternoon.

Mrs. Chauncey Duncan will be among the guests at a delightful party which Mrs. Earl Greer of Greenfield is giving this evening.

Miss Lenore Norris entertained with a delightful dinner yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Bert Norris of Noble township and Miss Alice Norris of this city.

Miss Grace Buell will entertain the members of the Auction Bridge Club at her home east of the city tomorrow afternoon. The members are requested to leave the traction station on the 1:42 car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Humes are entertaining at dinner this evening Miss Helen Seudder, Robert Humes and Scott Buell. A good time is insured in their ideal little home in which hospitality reigns supreme.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Falmouth M. E. church had an interesting and profitable meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Alfred Collier. After some important business was brought before the society, the hostess served refreshments during a social time enjoyed by the guests.

To form an Epworth League, is the purpose for which the young people of the Methodist church over the age of sixteen, are invited and urged to come to the church this evening at 7:30. The prospects for a League are promising and a large attendance is hoped for this evening to help organize the movement.

PSI IOTA XI

Psi Iota Xi had an unusually pleasant meeting last evening, when they were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Ernest Mitchell. A short but important business session was held, after which chat and sewing amused the guests. An elaborate luncheon was served near the close of the evening reflecting credit upon the culinary art of the hostess.

CARD PARTY

A number of the friends of Mrs. Lily Rae of Falmouth were pleasantly entertained at her home yesterday afternoon. Several spirited rounds of cards kept the guests enjoyably amused during the afternoon. Several pretty musical numbers also added to the pleasure of the occasion. An elaborate luncheon was served.

No More Backache No More Misery

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides or have any signs of kidney or bladder trouble such as rheumatic pains, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run-down, or bothered with urinary disorders. Solvax will quickly and surely relieve you of your misery.

Solvax is the most potent remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sift out all the uric acid and poisons left by the blood, and renders the kidneys and urinary organs clean, vigorous and healthy.

Johnson's Drug Store the popular druggist, says that no medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. They therefore sell Solvax under a positive guarantee to quickly relieve the worst cases of kidney trouble or refund the money. Try Solvax today and if you cannot see and feel a decided change for the better just go to Johnson's Drug store and tell them you want your money back and they will return it without question. This is the strongest argument that can be offered in behalf of any medicine. (Advertisement.)

K. OF C. PARTY.

Several forms of amusement were combined last evening to make the guests at the Knights of Columbus party in Connersville have a gay evening. Beginning at eight o'clock, progressive euchre furnished the game for the lively players. An elaborate dinner was served at ten o'clock after which the guests danced for several hours. About 116 couples participated in this full evening. Among the guests from this city was Francis Knecht.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Elizabeth Beale was a gay little hostess last evening, when honoring her ninth birthday, she entertained several of her friends with a theatre party. Following a visit to the "movie," refreshments were enjoyed at the candy kitchen. Elizabeth received several beautiful remembrances, in honor of the day. Chaperoned by Miss Esther Black, the following girls enjoyed the party, Margaret Giffin, Frances Payne, and Marian Kinsinger.

SOROSIS CLUB

A meeting of special interest and profit was the meeting of the Sorosis Club held with Mrs. Ed Murphy of Glenwood yesterday afternoon. The program was one of alive and up-to-date subjects. Her trip to the Panama Exposition was vividly told by Miss Jessie Murphy, in a clear and interesting manner. Mrs. Rella Murphy's talk on "Public Schools" was also well prepared. Beautiful music was furnished by Miss Dora Saxon, with several piano solos. Interesting discussions of the subjects brought up, a pleasant social hour preceded the serving of the dainty refreshments by the hostess. About seventeen members of the club were present to enjoy the meeting.

DINNER DANCE.

Over a hundred people composed the jolly crowd that partook of the festivities at the Social Club last evening. The guests all seated at small tables, enjoyed the elegant dinner reflecting praise upon the ladies to whom the credit was due for it. The service of the dinner was as good as the delightful menu. Quite a number of guests enjoyed the informal series of dances, for which Mitchell's Orchestra played. Among the guests were Miss Gladys Henley, of Chicago, Mr. Thompson, of Lafayette, the Misses Mahle and Connell, and Ed Green and Lewis Ebee, the last four of Connersville, who were with Miss Mary Amos.

DINNER PARTY.

Pretty pink and white sweet-peas were the dainty decorations used last evening when Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Aldridge entertained several of their friends at a 6 o'clock dinner. The pretty flowers, with ferns twining about the base of the vase that held them, made a beautiful decoration for the center of the prettily set table. An elegant three-course dinner, charming in its appointments, was served to the congenial crowd of guests who, with interesting story telling and lively conversation, spent an unusually enjoyable evening. Covers at the dinner were laid for the Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Whitsitt, Dr. and Mrs. F. R. McClanahan, Mr. and Mrs. Verl Bebout and Earl Marlatt.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS

An unusually large attendance helped to make the meeting of the Loyal Daughters a pleasant one last evening. When with the Misses Geneva Crull and Letha Creekmore, and Mrs. Ethel Harrell as hostesses, they were entertained at the home of Miss Creekmore. The president, Miss Bessie Morris, presided over the business meeting and the roll was called by Miss Bertha Burton. During the business meeting several gratifying reports were given among them that the balance in the treasury from last year is over $40. A summary of the year's work was also given. Miss Grace Russell read the scripture lesson. Following this, a pleasant evening made more so by the needlework, a number of games, and some intervening music. A delectable one course lunch was served by the hostesses and greatly enjoyed by the guests, who numbered over forty.

Mrs. Theodore Reed will entertain the members of the Thursday Bridge Club at her home in North Main street tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Forry will entertain the members of the Embroidery Club tomorrow afternoon, honoring her sister, Miss Ruth Miller, of Flora, Ind., who is visiting her during the Depauw recess.

The Lumbermen's convention banquet which is to be held in the Claypool this evening promises to be a very brilliant affair, as a closing feature to the convention. Several lumbermen and their friends from this city are planning to attend and among them are Miss Josephine Kelly, Denning Havens, Harry Green and Charles Sherman.

HONORING MISS MILLER

Complimentary to her sister, Miss Ruth Miller, who is the interesting guest of Mrs. Frank Forry of Gosnell Avenue, a beautifully appointed dinner party was given Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forry. The jolly crowd, which gathered at about six o'clock were seated at the dining table, made attractive with graceful greenery adorning the center of the festive board. Many were the dainty dishes served during the meal which was made more pleasant by the keen conversation furnished by the guests. A delightful evening was spent, with several vocal selections by the guests and a number of piano numbers played by Miss Miller, showing her marked ability.

Kibby, today offers advice concerning the habits, characteristics and dispositions of various sorts of men, which is intended to help the girls win their hearts' desires without suffering rebuff in the process. A good deal of what Kibby says is based upon phrenology.

A man who has thin, straight lips is branded a cold blooded, stony hearted creature upon whom the dearest girl's appeal would have no effect. This sort of man will do his own proposing, run his own wedding and rule his household; and he'll do it more with his head than his heart. But if the man of your choice has full, well-formed lips, Kibby says that you may depend upon his capacity for and inclination to, love. He also is susceptible to the right sort of feminine approach.

Kibby says the way to tell whether the one you love, loves you, is by the coloring of the under lip when he is with you. Every human emotion gives some physical demonstration when it is aroused. The evidence that love has been aroused is given by the deep crimsoning of the under lip. If his under lip is perpetually pale when he is with you, he doesn't love you. If it is crimson and you want him, grab him quick; he won't run. A man with a broad, square, massive forehead is a good business man; he can plan ahead, has good business judgment. If the crown of his head is high and round he is absolutely conscientious, too; and if the back of his head is well rounded out he will love his home, his wife and his children and show them consideration above everything else in the world.

The man whose head is flat on top, flat and almost even with his ears in the back and narrow and foreshortened on the front; whose lips are thin, whose eyes are cold, will not make a good husband in any sense of the word, says Kibby. The longer a man's jaw bone, the greater his capacity for affection, according to Kibby. All these things are as applicable to women as to men, in the expert's opinion.

URNS ESTATE INTO HOME FOR BIRDS

Multi-Millionaire Gives 1,500 Acres Into Sactuary to Aid National Movement

CENSUS WILL BE TAKEN SOON

(By United Press.) Greenwich, Conn., Jan. 26.—E. O. Converse, multi-millionaire, is turning his 1,500 acres here into a bird sactuary to aid the national movement for the conservation of bird life. Mr. Converse and George A. Drew, manager of the big estate, Conyers Manor, are enthusiastic over the plan. An ornithologist of high ability will be selected from the Massachusetts Agricultural College and will be ordered to make Conyers Manor an ideal bird refuge. His work will include the raising of wild ducks and the winter feeding and protection of insectivorous birds, this including the setting out of nesting boxes and lessening the enemies of birds' life. A bird census will be taken at the start and comparisons made as the work progresses. Special attention will be given to the increase of insect eating birds.

FACES DEFICIT OF $100,000,000

United States Treasury is Depleted More Each Day And Party in Power Must Take Blame

J. W. FORDNEY'S COMPARISON

War Tax Revenue Amounts to $85,000,000 Net Balance in General Fund is Down to $50,000,000

Washington, Jan. 26.—Another day of reckoning.

The United States Treasury faces a deficit of over $100,000,000. The party responsible for that deficit must either meet the situation or surrender the reins of power.

In other words, the American people demand that a political party either make good or give up.

The handwriting on the wall was revealed recently by Representative Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan in a discussion of the Democratic tariff and revenue policies before the House. He showed that the Democratic party has failed to make good.

"The Treasury balance is nearly $100,000,000 less than it was when the Republicans were in power," said Mr. Fordney. "The war in Europe is the excuse, but it is not the cause for the deficit. Without that war the Democratic party would have been compelled to admit ere this that their tariff law is a complete failure."

"Comparing nine months from March to November, 1915, with the corresponding nine months from March to November, 1913, imports showed a gain of $72,716,000. Customs receipts showed a loss of $76,000,000. The maximum loss of customs receipts that can be attributed to the war in Europe is $5,520,000 per month, and the war tax, so-called, is producing $6,800,000 per month, or about $1,300,000 per month more than the loss in customs receipts."

"Notwithstanding the fact that the war tax is more than making up for the loss in customs receipts, the balance in the general fund declined $75,603,336 from July 31, 1914, to July 31, 1915. On July 31, 1914, the balance was $143,776,800 and one year later it was down to $68,173,000."

"The Underwood law started out with a good balance in the Treasury. That is not an argument in favor of the Underwood law. Credit for that balance belongs to the preceding Republican tariff law. The real question is, what balance will you have at the end of the operation of the Underwood law?"

"Up to the present time some $85,000,000 has been raised by the so-called war taxes, and notwithstanding this and the fact that importations at present are breaking past records in volume, the balance in the general fund is now down to about $85,000,000."

"When the Underwood act is finally repeated and the reckoning is made, it will show some hundreds of millions raised by objectionable methods of taxation—and an empty treasury!"

dealing with the disease question is to prevent disease, not to cure it. The average farm chicken is not worth much doctoring after it is sick."

The instructor then explained the common causes of diseases and methods of prevention. Various ways of getting rid of lice and mites were discussed, and questions were answered concerning treatment of some of the common diseases. A demonstration was given showing the preparation of a cheap, home-lice powder.

Uses of Meat

Miss Garvin, in her demonstration on "The Use of Meat and Meat Substitutes," said that we could reduce somewhat the cost of our food if we would consider more the use of the meat substitutes. Many families have meat three times a day which as a rule gives too much protein for the day's diet, she continued: "Eggs, milk, cheese, nuts, beans and peas form excellent foods to be used in place of meat. For the child especially less meat and more eggs and milk should be used."

"In cooking the meat and meat substitutes a low temperature should be used because they are made harder to digest when cooked by a high temperature."

"In cooking eggs we find that it is not necessary to boil the egg because both the yolk and white cooks or hardens below the boiling point of water. A good method in soft cooking or hard cooking is to use the double boiler. Pour hot water in the bottom next, place the eggs in the top part of the boiler and cover them with water, cover and place on fire. For a soft cooked egg it will take from five to eight minutes according to how one likes the eggs, for a hard cooked egg it requires from thirty to thirty-five minutes."

"Nuts should be used more as a substitute for meat. Many palatable nut dishes may be made as nut loaf, etc. Cheese is an economical form of meat substitutes. It is in a form which is easily kept by wrapping it in a moistened cloth. It may be used in many ways as in souffles, custards, etc."

"When any of the meat substitutes are used as a main part of the meal it is not necessary to serve meat too; that is when we serve eggs we will not need to have steak or some form of meat served at the same time. Miss Garvin demonstrated several ways of using meat substitutes also gave methods in cooking meat."

Poultry Housing

"The average farm hen is a nuisance," said L. L. Jones to the poultry class, "for she is so often where she does not belong. The hen which tries to get into the kitchen when the screen door is opened has not been properly brought up. A good poultry house, properly equipped with nets and feed hoppers, will do much to keep the hen in her place, and in addition will aid in egg production and profit."

In his lecture the instructor gave details of the construction of a simple, inexpensive, practical house for farm use, and by use of models and illustrations, explained the building of labor-saving equipment for the interior. "Plenty of ventilation, lots of sunlight, no draughts over the roosts, plus a dry house, will make a real home for the hens. Make this house convenient for the caretaker, and cheap, and the result will be a good house, no matter what particular type is used," he said.

Pruning

"There are fifty-two days in the year when fruit trees should not be pruned. These days are Sundays. However, for the heavier pruning, the early spring is most satisfactory because wounds heal readily at that time. Rapidly growing but unfruitful trees should be lightly pruned in June."

According to C. B. Durham, the Extension Horticulturist of Purdue, one common fault is the leaving of stubs. The limbs should be cut very close and parallel with the parent branch.

Testing Milk

The chief points of interest brought out by Mr. Mills in his discussion of testing milk for butter fat were:

The Babcock test is a cheap and simple device for determining the percentage of fat in milk, cream, skim milk, buttermilk, whey and cheese. It was invented in 1890 by Dr. S. M. Babcock of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station and ranks among the leading agricultural inventions of modern times. The chief uses of the Babcock test are as follows:

1. It has made possible the payment for milk according to its quality.
2. It has enabled butter and cheese makers to detect undue losses in the process of manufacture.
3. It has made possible the grading up of dairy herds by locating the poor cows.
4. It has, in a large measure, done away with the practice of watering and skimming milk.

The separation of the butter fat from milk with the Babcock test is made possible by (1) the difference between the specific gravity of butter fat and milk serum, (2) the centrifugal force generated in the tester, and (3) burning the solids not fat with a strong acid.

Testing the milk to find its content of butter fat is an interesting process. Any careful and intelligent person can learn it in a short time. A small 4-bottle tester may be bought for $4 or $5, and full and accurate directions for operating the test are sent with each machine.

Animal Husbandry

The work in live stock judging consisted of a study of sheep and horses. The period both in the forenoon and the afternoon was devoted to it, the first half of each period being devoted to a study of sheep and the second half to a study of draft horses. A Hampshire and a Shropshire ewe were the subjects of the study in sheep. The two ewes were used to demonstrate the parts of the sheep from which the best cuts of mutton were taken, and the instructor illustrated the importance of a strong development of these parts, as high quality mutton is a most nutritious and palatable food. The selection of the ewe with a view to make ewes of good breed type, conformation, health and of good fleece was demonstrated with a Shropshire ewe.

For a study of draft horses, Purdue University bought a team of Belgian mares of the highest quality. These mares illustrate the draft type in its highest perfection. They stand about 17 hands high, weigh 4100 pounds, are of massive body, strong and cleaned boned and both have good action.

The instructor urged the importance of every breed of draft horses having an idea of perfection which govern all his breeding and feeding operations. The speaker also urged that men engaged in the production of draft horses should come to an appreciation of the fact that it takes an abundance of good feed to grow a draft horse that at maturity will weigh a ton. He urged wise feeding of the colt, especially during the first two years of its life. "The draft colt should weigh at least 1000 pounds the day it is a year old," he said. "In order to attain this weight the colt must be well fed. A ration of oats to which is added a little bran or linseed oil meal produces a strong development of bone and muscle. The growing colt should get a very limited amount of corn, and that only when fed in connection with some other feeds, such as bran, oil meal and oats. The outlook for soundness in raising both high grade and pure bred draft horses is very encouraging. The market is becoming critical, however, and the grade draft horses must have size and weight if they are to sell at highest prices. American pure bred horses must also be well grown if they are to compete with the horses which are imported annually from the old country. Indiana can raise good draft horses, as has been demonstrated by many of her farmers."

Spraying

"Forty-three is the average cost per season of spraying a mature fruit tree," said C. B. Durham to the horticulture class. "This includes the cost of labor and material for five applications. The corresponding average return is about $3 per tree or a profit of something like $2. These figures show why spraying is rapidly increasing in popularity. The returns are—in some cases much greater, one Indiana tree last year having returned a net profit of $80."

To be profitable the spraying must be done thoroughly with tested spray solutions, he said. The Horticultural Department of Purdue University maintains free service on orchard management, it was learned here at the Short course. Any one wishing aid in this line can secure it on application to the Lafayette institution.

Rearing Young Stock

"Too many dairymen feel that they cannot afford to raise dairy calves and so they depend upon purchasing of cows to keep up with their herds," commented W. O. Mills, in discussing this important phase of farming. "Under ordinary conditions a good dairy heifer can be kept until two years of age at a cost of from $50 to $60, and if it is of the right kind, will produce as much profit in one year as the average cow will in two."

Poorly fed cows frequently have weak, unthrifty calves, said Mr. Mills. Fall calves can usually be raised with less difficulty than spring calves if properly cared for, and the cow will often produce more milk during the following milking period.

"Skim milk has proved to be very valuable for growing calves and a great deal cheaper than feeding whole milk," he asserted. "Removing the fat from the milk does not destroy the growing properties of the milk and the fat is not needed by the calf in large quantities. A little grain will easily supply this."

"The importance of cleanliness asserts itself most emphatically in the rearing of young calves. More trouble results from overfeeding than from underfeeding the calves. However, a poorly fed calf has little chance to develop into a good dairy animal, no matter what the value of its parents. For the first three weeks, 6 to 8 pounds of milk per day is usually sufficient, increasing until at six weeks 10 to 12 pounds may be consumed. At three months, it may drink 14 to 16 pounds."

Manures and Fertilizers

In the last lecture of the course, J. C. Beavers showed how important it is that all farmers fully appreciate the value of livestock for maintaining fertility. "The value of livestock has not been fully recognized because farmers have not been getting full returns from this kind of farming. Unless the manure is properly cared for much of the benefit to be derived from this type of farming will be lost. The manure produced in Indiana one year has a value of $44,338,955 or $197 per farm. Under present conditions about one third of this is lost. This means a loss of $65 per farm, or about one third for every man, woman and child in the state. If this is to be prevented the muddy barnyard a foot deep in soggy manure must disappear."

"The principal loss," Mr. Beavers says, "is due to leaching. This may be prevented by putting in concrete floors and by using sufficient absorbent bedding. It is also essential that water from other sources be prevented from running into the barnyard and washing out the soluble plant foods."

"Fermentation is also responsible for a large loss of nitrogen," he adds. "There are two kinds of fermentation, one taking place in the presence of air and the other when air is excluded. The former is destructive, the latter beneficial. When manure heats and gets white in the interior of a pile much of the nitrogen has escaped into the air. When fermentation takes place in the absence of air, the long, strawy manure gradually breaks up into short or rotted manure. This is a desirable kind of fermentation and may be promoted by keeping the manure

"Contrary to general opinion, manure is not a well balanced fertilizer. It usually contains too much nitrogen in protection to phosphoric acid. Manure treated with phosphate produces much better results than manure alone. The phosphate should be applied at the rate of 30 to 50 pounds per ton of manure, or one-half to one pound per 1000 pounds of animal weight. Broadcasting over the stable is very effective."

"In applying manure make small rather than large applications," recommends Mr. Beavers, "unless manure is plentiful. Manure may be applied for corn or used as a top dressing on wheat. When judiciously used manure is worth from $2 to $3 per ton."

Beautifying Home Grounds

With some of the finest colored lantern slides to be found in the country. C. B. Durham last night at the Short course, illustrated the principles of making a farm more valuable through simple beautification methods. Pictures were shown of places where the expenditure of a few dollars in cleaning up fences, planting shrubs and trees has added hundreds of dollars to the value of farms.

Purdue University now has a distinct division for farm home improvement which has been included in the agricultural work of the institution. The new work is the result of insistent demand from the people of the state for instruction in landscape beautification. It was announced at the lecture last night that aid from the institution would be given free of charge to a limited number of persons in each community.

FAVOR WATSON MORE THAN NEW

Progressives Find Rushville Man
Less Distasteful Than Opponent, Crumbacker Says

DISTRICT CHAIRMAN TALKS

Declares That if Watson is to be Condemned, What of New Who
Was on The Committee

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—From the headquarters of James E. Watson, Republican candidate for United States senator, there was issued today a statement signed by Samuel Crumbacker, Progressive district chairman of the first district, in which Crumbacker says that Watson is less distasteful to the Progressives than is Harry New, Watson's opponent.

"If Mr. Watson is to be condemned for his action at the Chicago convention, how much more offensive must Mr. New's action and conduct have been, because Mr. Watson served merely in the capacity of parliamentarian while Mr. New participated in the contest that came before his committee, advocating and voting for the unseating of Roosevelt delegates," said the statement, which was as follows:

"I am informed by the newspapers that some former Progressives are going to vote at the Republican primary, to be held in this state on the seventh day of next March and that it has been urged upon them that in the race for United States senator they should support Mr. New in preference to Mr. Watson.

"The reason given is that Mr. Watson was unfriendly to the Roosevelt supporters at the 1912 Republican convention in Chicago.

"If Mr. Watson is to be condemned for his actions at that convention how much more offensive must Mr. New's actions and conduct have been because Mr. Watson served merely in the capacity of a parliamentarian, performing his duties in open convention while Mr. New participated in the contest which came before his committee, advocating and voting for the unseating of the Roosevelt delegates.

"I have always admired any man for the open and above board manner of fighting both in conventions and in campaigning and I am glad to know Jim is at least fighting in the open, and not hiding behind others or trying to deceive the people of Indiana with letters without a date.

"Mr. Watson is a man of long political experience and great ability and would better represent the state of Indiana in the United States senate than any other Republican candidate before the people and I am free to say that in my judgment that he would be preferred by the undersigned in the event I were anticipating going into the primary and voting for the nomination of Republican candidates.

"While this is not my fight up to date, and I am not asked by anyone to make any statement whatever in this matter I simply feel that if Mr. Watson is to be defeated by Mr.

New it should be on some other ground than that of appealing to the Progressives or Progressive Republicans for their support in the primaries. (Signed),
SAMUEL CRUMBACKER,
Progressive chairman of the first district.

BIDS GOOD-BYE TO SHORT COURSE

Banquet Tonight Will be Farewell to
First Farmers Meeting of Kind

LAST CLASSES HELD TODAY

Sectional Meetings Regarding Live
Stock, Soil and Kindred Topics
Occupy Attention.

This afternoon the farmers short course, the first of its kind ever held here, became a matter of history and the only remaining affair relating to the week's program was the farmers banquet which will be held at six o'clock at the Graham Annex gymnasium.

The ticket sale increased when it was learned yesterday that George I. Christie, head of the Purdue extension department, had finally consented to come and would deliver the principal address. Other toasts will be responded to by local men and there will be five musical numbers, which give promise of making the evening a most entertaining and helpful one.

Profitable Dairy Cows

W. O. Mills delivered the opening lecture at the Graham Annex this morning, speaking on "Profitable Dairy Cows," as follows:

"The profits on the average dairy farm can easily be doubled. As the cost of feeding materials rises there is a greater need of careful attention to cost of production. Better cows, better methods and better dairymen have most to do with increasing profits. Cows vary much as to the cost of their product. This variation can be seen even among the members of a relatively well bred herd. The dairy cow uses up large quantities of farm products such as grain, hay and silage. What does she give you for them, and for your work? Does the cow give you market price or much more than market price or does she give much less than market price for the corn, hay, etc., she consumes? A town has two elevators. One pays a cent a bushel more than the other for grain. What farmer would knowingly sell his grain to the one paying the lowest price? Yet farmers often keep cows that pay 25 cents a bushel for grain, while others in the same herd, or others that can be obtained at reasonable prices will pay 75 cents a bushel or more. This difference in cows is not as easy to see as the difference in prices at the elevators, but there is a difference. Careful handling, careful record keeping is necessary, so as to avoid the unprofitable cows. Weed out the boards, use good pure bred bulls of one of the dairy breeds. The pure bred bull is of great importance. Haphazard breeding will never get us far in the improvement of our dairy cows. Select a dairy breed and stay with it. Cross breeding defeats the very purpose for which breeds have been established.

"Larger profits then are going to come by keeping individual cow records, but the use of the pure bred bull, by proper care and handling, and in addition by the sale of surplus stock from the good herd.

Indiana needs better cows more than it needs more cows."

"Over one-half of my little chicks died the first three weeks. They just dumped around and would not eat, and in the morning I would find them dead. What ailed them?"

"This," said L. L. Jones to the home economics class this morning, "is a fair sample of the many disease questions which are sent in to Purdue, and are very hard to answer accurately. Our first effort in

New Home and Equipment Represents an Investment of Approximately $9,000.

One of Rushville's baby industries has outgrown its old home and is now located in a new and modern building in the rear of the Elks lodge. This industry is known as the Twentieth Century Cleaners and Pressers. The business is owned by C. L. Bebout and Merrill Ball. The work of moving the equipment to the new building was completed today and the firm is now ready to do business at the new location.

The new building and plant speaks for the rapid growth of this firm. The company was organized September 18, 1913. It was a new thing to Rushville and from the very start the success has been great. The new building and equipment represents an outlay of approximately $9,000 and the firm has become an established organization in Rushville business life.

The new building is of concrete and was started late last fall. The exterior has not been completed as the weather would not permit it. The walls are to be stuccoed the coming spring. All of the various departments of the firm are now located under the one roof. Before moving, the pressing department was located in the rear of the Betker store. One of the big changes in the new location is in the arrangement of the boiler room and the cleaning department was located in the rear partment. The gasoline tanks are all under ground and the wash room is entirely of cement and is as nearly fire-proof as could be made.

The building is well lighted from side windows and sky-lights. The boiler room and washing department are in the rear. In the middle room a new department of the plant is located, the carpet department. Heretofore the firm has not made an effort to dry clean carpets, but in the new location this will be one of the features of the business.

The pressing department and office are in the front of the building. The new plant is heated by steam and the entire arrangement is fashioned after the most modern plants in the country. An inspection of the plant is welcomed by the owners.

MANAGER TALKS TO TRABUE

S. L. Trabue, president of the Chamber of Commerce, today received a telephone message from J. H. Staly, manager of the Continental Auto Parts company of Franklin, Ind., that the company is looking for a new location and has been advised to come to Rushville. The manager referred the Rushville commercial organization to E. R. Titsworth, trustee of Noble township, for information as to the nature and extent of their business.

The company now employs eight high class mechanics and expects to employ more when located. They build Continental cars upon order and manufacture all the parts of the car. They will require from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet of floor space and prefer a building of two or three stories. The company is capitalized at $15,000.

A hand book on automobile information says that the Continental machine is made by Martindale and Milliken.

NO JURISDICTION ON 1ST CLASS MAIL

This is Contention of American Note
to England, to Which Tentative
Reply is Received

SEIZURE IS CONTESTED

(By United Press.)
Washington, Jan. 26.—England has made a tentative reply to the American note protesting against seizure of mail between America and neutral countries. The state department today announced the plan to make the American note and reply public Friday.

The American protest is understood to have been based on the contention that Great Britain has no jurisdiction over first class mail bound for neutral countries. Under international law England has a right to censor all mail which is routed through a British port, but may not censor mail bound directly to a neutral port but forced while enroute to enter a British port.

NOTE HANDED TO BERNSTORFF

This Government Says Germany
Must Admit Illegality of Sinking
of The Vessel

(By United Press.)
Washington, Jan. 26.—Secretary of State Lansing today delivered to Ambassador Bernstorff for transmission to Berlin final proposals of the United States for settlement of the Lusitania case.

Bernstorff was summoned to the state department shortly before noon. Lansing submitted the second proposal setting forth in unequivocal terms the position of the United States government that Germany must admit the illegality of the sinking of the Lusitania with the loss of more than 100 American lives. Arrangements were made that Ambassador Bernstorff should cable this communication to his government at once.

Nothing further will be done until the note is answered.

The German ambassador carried no communication with him when he went into Lansing's office. He had in his hand a card on which were a few written notes, presumably a few suggestions for the memorandum to be sent to Berlin.

After his conference the German ambassador dictated a message to a state department stenographer. It was presumed it was the code message to Berlin containing the United States note.

DEBT INCREASES UNDER NEW PLAN

Des Moines Form of Commission
Government is Branded a Failure
And Councilman Quits

POLITICS NOT ELIMINATED

Been in Force Seven Years And Now
They Want Manager Form of Government

(By United Press.)

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 26.—The so-called Des Moines plan of city government, one of the first forms of Commission government, which attracted much favorable attention the country over when it was adopted seven years ago, is branded a failure by Councilman W. F. Mitchell and a considerable percentage of the citizens.

Mitchell was put into office to see if he couldn't reorganize affairs and make the plan successful. His resignation is tendered today, effective this spring. Mitchell says the City Manager plan should be adopted by Des Moines.

The bonded and floating indebtedness of Des Moines has increased nearly $1,000,000 since the plan was put in force seven years ago. The plan was heralded as one that would eliminate partisan politics from all municipal elections, place the responsibility for the success or failure of the city government upon the heads of the individual commissioners and generally make for economy and efficiency.

Mitchell says politics has not been eliminated and that financially the plan has accomplished no good. Mitchell favors electing councilmen by districts rather than at large, paying them for one meeting a week. He believes all municipal executive control should be vested in the City Manager, together with power to enforce all laws and ordinances and to control all city work. Mitchell believes this would kill the political phase, he believes has made the old Des Moines plan useless.

FATS AND OILS TO BE CONTRABAND

Expected England Will Soon Place
These Two Necessities on List
Not to be Shipped

JUST AS SHE DID COTTON

Great Britain Fixes Attention More on American Friendship Than Germany's Defeat

By WILBUR S. FORREST
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Jan. 5.—(By Mail) Great Britain is expected soon to put fats and oils on the list of absolute contraband, just as it did with cotton. Scientists have been demanding that this be done for some time, saying it is the ignorance of government officials concerning the use of fats and oils in the manufacture of high explosives which has left this raw material supply open to Germany this long.

Prof. E. B. Poulton of Oxford calls it "the national neglect of science," saying in part: "It is dangerous that a country which depends on science for its existence and prosperity should be ruled by politicians and civil servants who, with hardly an exception, are utterly ignorant of science. Lawyer politicians, fixing their attention more steadily on American friendship than German defeat, have permitted the export from England of materials for propulsive ammunition—fats and oils."

Cotton is already on the absolute contraband list, this action having been taken after a widespread campaign by scientists who claimed that cotton exported to Germany was merely so much ammunition for the German army. Sir William Ramsay, leader of the scientists' campaign against cotton has begun a campaign against fats and oils which he says, are vital to German ammunition making.

Sir William declared today: "One third of German ammunition for heavy guns consists of nitro-glycerine; and fats are the source of glycerine. I really can't understand the incredible folly of going on providing the Germans with means of killing our men. Untold thousands of lives and an ever growing volume of human misery are a terrible punishment for the neglect of science. It is possible that military experts are mistaken in thinking the final decision in this war can be reached by fighting. It may have to be reached by economic and financial pressure."

"England's official ignorance of science as applied to war has lengthened the struggle," Sir William declared, continuing: "If the government had seriously considered this possibility at the outset and made preparations accordingly, asking for and accepting advice on the subject, the war long would have been over." Many well known British scientists have joined Sir William in his newest campaign against the export of fats and oils. It's predicted that the government soon will turn to the Navy the question of keeping Germany from getting these commodities.

WAR POETRY IS SENT FROM FRONT

Former University Student at California Writes of His Experiences in Trenches

NOW SERVING AS LIEUTENANT

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

"Sing me to sleep where bullets fall,
"Let me forget the war and all;
"Damp is my dugout, cold my feet,
"Nothing but bully and biscuits to eat."

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 24.—Before he went to war, Jack Burnet was a student at the University of California. His college companions often have wondered about how fortune has served him since he went back to fight for King and Country. Today they have heard from him and he's a Lieutenant "somewhere at the British front." In a letter to an old college chum here he writes his impressions of trench warfare in verse. Among other things he remarks in prose, however, is this: "The Hun gets rough and hurls buildings, bridges, shells, gas, fire, bullets, whizz bags and a few other incidentals at us, but bar spilling a bit of good British blood, he doesn't accomplish much." But still Burnet goes on:

"Sing me to sleep where bombs explode,
"And shrapnel shells are a la mode.
"Over the sandbags, helmets you'll find,
"Corpses in front of you, corpses behind."

Burnet writes a lot of "close shaves," but not close enough so he could get a trip back to that "dear little nurse at the base." And then again.

"Sing me to sleep where the camp-fires glow
"Full of French bread and cafe l'au
"Dreaming of home and nights in the west
"Somebody's 'overseas' boots on my chest."
"This game is hell and no mistake," the cheerful poet concludes.

Much complaint has been made lately about many persons using the city park for a driveway. It is said that owners of vehicles have been in the habit of driving down the cinder path running from the gates to the chautauqua, around the coliseum and thence through the park to Tenth street. In this sort of weather, the vehicles have cut up the sod and have materially damaged the appearance of the park. It is reported attention of the mayor and councilmen has been called to this and that they will stop the practice.

Money And Its Making

To make money is comparatively easy. To save it is more difficult. To make it grow is a problem. And not all of us are able to solve the problem.

But if ever there was a time when we faced the opportunities for making money grow, that time is now.

Everybody knows that the prosperity of the nation depends primarily upon the farmer and his crops. If he plants in large acreages, and nature is good to him, his yield is bountiful and he becomes the harbinger of an era of prosperity.

When the farmer is plentifully supplied with funds he wants new machinery and more machinery, and the making of these gives employment to millions of people.

These people in turn have money to spend and the merchant begins to increase the volume of his business and gather in greater profits.

And as it is with these, so it is all down the line and extending into every industry and into every home.

This year the farmers of this country marketed the greatest crop in history, the total value of the leading crops reaching the astounding figure of over $5,280,000,000. This exceeds last year's yield by over $415,000,000.

The making of money by the people of this community this year will depend greatly upon the farmers of our community. If they increase their acreage the wealth of the community will be enhanced in proportion, and through the logical routine of barter and trade it finds its way into every artery of town, farm and countryside.

The year will witness a tremendous demand for farm products. This demand will come from every section of the globe and the buyer pays in gold.

For this reason we urge upon every farmer the advisability, even the vital importance, of cultivating every possible foot of ground, even to the doubling of your acreage if such a thing be within the bounds of possibility.

The opportunity for making money is before you—the greatest you have ever seen, possibly greater than you will ever see again.

You are our mainstay, our backbone, the one man upon whom we all depend, to whom we all turn as the child turns to its mother.

Your success will be our success, your prosperity our prosperity, your advancement our advancement.

You are the man of the hour, and the opportunity is before you.

The latest issue of the Federal Reserve Bulletin, organ of the Federal Reserve Banking system, runs true to form in that it shows about 66 per cent of all the rediscount business for November to have been done in those favored centers, Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas. The same issue also contains a notice of an assessment upon the member banks to pay the cost of operating the system. Are Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas to pay per cent of this assessment? Nay, nay, Pauline. All the member banks, everywhere, will pay their little one-tenth of one per cent on their stock in the Reserve Bank to pay the cost of maintaining an institution which chiefly benefits Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas. Is the South in the saddle?

Washington became wildly excited the other day over a report that Postmaster General Burleson was to resign in order to try for the Senatorship from Texas. Burleson promptly denied the story. He may run Senator, but he certainly will not resign his present job. The precedents are all against it. Franklin Roosevelt did not resign as Assistant Secretary of the Navy when he went into the Senatorial primary in New York in 1914. The motto of this administration, be it understood, is "Safety first."

Business failures in 1915 were about 4,000 more than in 1914, but the total liabilities were about $58,000,000 less. This means that big concerns, dealing in war orders and otherwise benefitted by the champagne prosperity of the moment, managed to avoid receivership—while the smaller manufacturer and the retailer, whose prosperity depends upon the orders which his neighbors give him and upon their ability to pay for what they buy, had to go under. The "prosperity" of the country is, as Congressman Humphrey says, "local, spotted, temporary, spasmodic."

Hail to sweet womanhood! Without her we wouldn't have any kind of a hood.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

The Chicago Flasco.

The last attempted uprising had been set for Chicago at the time of the meeting of the National Democratic convention. The increase of the federal garrison at Chicago led to the rumor that the convention would be molested. This was probably the occasion of a statement of the Indiana Democratic Committee, advising Democrats to arm. But when the conspirators, joined by sixty Confederate soldiers from Canada, met in Chicago, they found themselves utterly unprepared for revolt. They were leaders without organized following. They had difficulty in finding each other in thronged Chicago, and nothing was done. After the example of the King of France and his forty thousand men—they had marched up to Chicago, and then marched home again.

The "One Hundred Days" Movement.

Meanwhile, throughout the activities of the treasonable secret associations in Indiana, the state continued all available troops for pushing the war to a conclusion, thousands of veteran soldiers were doing garrison duty in the North. To relieve them for active service, Morton conceived the idea of enlisting new men who could do the garrison duty. Calling upon governors of Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Iowa to act with him, they united in offering Lincoln 85,000 men from these states for a term of one hundred days. Indiana furnished her share, many of the one hundred day men re-enlisting in answer to the last appeals for volunteers.

Newspaper Comment on Watson Candidacy

No Man is Abler

(Washington Herald)

James E. Watson's qualifications for a representative office are superior. In him are concentrated the essential features for legislative leadership. With a Republican congress and Watson in the senate from this state, Indiana at once would become the dominating influence in national legislation. With such an asset, wouldn't it be folly for the Indiana Republicans to fail to avail themselves of the opportunity offered them? No man is abler than Watson to represent and interpret the one overshadowing issue of the pending campaign, the protective tariff. And no man is better fitted than he to take the lead in the national legislature in rewriting on the statute books a law which shall restore the protective feature of the tariff. The Republican party must stand or fall on that momentous issue, and in the forefront of the battle our best material be placed if we are to succeed.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and go doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

A Suggestive Argument in Favor of Preparedness

The present session of congress will be the most important in its scope since the civil war.

Millions will be appropriated for defense. The traditional policies of the government will probably be revolutionized.

The Army and Navy

Will have more money at its disposal during the next few years than ever before during time of peace. Our diplomatic relations with some of the countries at war may be suspended at any time, War may possibly follow such action on our part.

Peace May Be Declared

during the new year between the countries now at war, and it is assumed that the United States will become the chief arbitrator, if it is able to remain neutral until such time.

Mexico

is in a reconstructive period, and continues to make history of the most pitiful type.

The National Conventions Will be Held in June

This is presidential year. President Wilson will probably be endorsed again by the Democrats and be renominated. Who the Republican candidate will be is yet a matter of speculation.

These are only a few of the big things the leading newspapers of the country will tell about. In the meantime all the news of interest to the home and to women and children is not to be neglected.

Everybody Should be Prepared to keep posted on these all-important events and no American citizen should remain in ignorance of what is going on. No person can expect to keep posted on the affairs of the big wide world unless he reads a metropolitan newspaper. The local paper, which gives him the items from his immediate neighborhood covers its field, which is from force of circumstances, confined to a small radius.

The Indianapolis News

has every existing facility for gathering news. It is a client of the two great press associations, THE ASSOCIATED PRESS and THE UNITED PRESS, which cover every part of the globe. Its Washington bureau is manned by an experienced staff of writers, and in the state of Indiana, there are over 800 correspondents, covering practically every hamlet, town and city.

We catch cold because our system has become weakened and finds itself unable to throw off the cold germs. Nature in some cases will effect a cure; but generally, without aid we get worse. How much wiser to help nature fight and expel these cold germs! For this purpose there is no better remedy than Dr. King's New Discovery. It is composed of Pine Tar mixed with laxatives and healing balsams. It is antiseptic. The instant Dr. King's New Discovery comes in contact with the germs, they die or leave. Your cough lessens, the irritation is soothed, and you begin to get better at once. Don't take the risk of serious sickness. Take Dr. King's New Discovery. In use over 45 years and guaranteed all the time. All druggists.

Gums shrinking? Danger ahead!

Go now to a mirror and examine your mouth? Do your gums look "rinsed out," shrunken? Do you see a jagged appearance in the gum-line?

If so, see your dentist. He will tell you that you have pyorrhea, and that to save your teeth you will have to fight this dread disease at once.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Sental Remedies Company, 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

FAILED TO PAY THE COURT COSTS

Bigamy Charge Resulted as Decree Issued Twenty Years Ago Was Never Officially Entered.

CASE MAY BE DISMISSED

Since Indictment Was Returned Man Has "Squared Things" in Illinois.

(By United Press.) Kokomo, Jan. 26.—Divorced twenty years ago, but charged with bigamy because he failed to pay the court costs incident to that divorce—that was the situation faced today by W. E. Hart. His bigamy trial was set for today, but Hart and his attorneys predicted that Prosecutor Strode would dismiss the case.

Hart was divorced in 1896 in Charleston, Ill. Either through ignorance or because of neglect he failed to pay the costs. The divorce decree was never entered, and when the enterprising local authorities learned of his case the grand jury was prevailed upon to return a bigamy indictment.

Since the indictment was returned, Hart has paid the Illinois costs, and the divorce decree was entered under date of 1896, so that Hart has been legally divorced for twenty years so far as official records go.

OLD FEUD IS NOW THING OF PAST

Cattle and Sheep Men Begin Annual Conventions at El Paso Together—Many Attend.

FINE LINE OF ENTERTAINMENT

(By United Press.) El Paso, Tex., Jan. 26.—The ancient feud between cattle and sheep men, dating back to the old days of the open range when the rival stockmen were wont to shoot on sight, was officially declared off today. The American Live Stock association and the National Sheep Growers' association began their annual conventions here together. About 10,000 delegates are in attendance, representing every feeding district west of Chicago. The cattle men will make a fight for an open market and against light competition by the packers. Practically every state organization already is pledged to back this campaign. The entertainment program will include roping, branding and riding contests; afternoons at the Juarez races, bull fights, open air barbecues and military drills at Fort Bliss. The convention will last three days.

GENTENNIAL NEWS LETTER.

(Issued by the Indiana Historical Commission.)

Centennial Parks.

Before a large audience of business men assembled at the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, January 8th, Enos O. Mills of Colorado declared that the most fitting and valuable recognition of our Centennial that could be made would be the creation of a system of state parks. Mr. Mills is the leader in the great public park movement in the United States, and is a recognized authority on the out of doors life of the wild and picturesque places of America.

While the centralizing of population and the passing of our frontier, Mr. Mills asserts that it is imperative for the health and happiness of our people that rugged, scenic areas be set off and preserved as public recreation and play grounds and as the unmolested homes of wild life. He stated that there are several such places in Indiana which should be secured, among which he mentioned the sand dunes of Lake Michigan, a section of Brown county, and Turkey Run.

In regard to the latter, Mrs. Juliet V. Strauss, the Country Contributor and member of the Turkey Run Commission, emphasized the necessity of prompt action if Turkey Run is to be saved, as the estate of which it is a part is to be sold at auction in March. The appraised value of that part which would be necessary for park purposes is in round numbers only Fifteen Thousand ($15,000.00) Dollars, and to lose this natural beauty spot in default of that sum would be a reproach to the citizens of Indiana and especially so in this, our Centennial Year.

Tippecanoe Prepares.

The Tippecanoe County Committee has named the period within the dates May 21 and May 26 as the time of the Tippecanoe celebration. It will crystallize about the five great institutions, viz: The home, the school, the church, the state, and the industrial community. Thursday, May 25, will be civic or historic day and will be the big day of the week.

Centennial Centenarian.

Fulton County boasts the distinction of a Centennial Centenarian in the person of Ephraim Lowman. His one hundredth birthday occurs this summer, in the very middle of 1916, and D. L. Barnhart, Fulton County's Centennial Chairman, expects Mr. Lowman to be a prominent figure in their county observance.

CONNERSVILLE TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Locals Hope to Avenge Defeat Suffered Earlier in Season—Independents Play Fairview.

TWO GOOD GAMES ASSURED

The Connersville high school team will be the attraction Friday night at the Graham Annex. The Rushville team is especially anxious to win this game. One reason is to avenge a defeat suffered at the hands of Connersville. The Rushville team would rather lose all the games on its schedule than lose to Connersville on the home floor.

As a result of this rivalry the largest crowd of the season is expected. A real game can also be expected as the two teams always fight the hardest when they meet. A large crowd of Connersville rooters are coming for the game. The Rushville Independents will play the Fairview Independents in a curtain raiser. The curtain raiser will start at seven-thirty and the big game will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock. The door to the gym will open at 7:15 o'clock.

A. T. MAHIN WILL ATTEND SESSIONS

Program For Annual Meeting of Indiana Sanitary and Water Supply Association Announced.

MAYORS ALSO WILL ATTEND

A. T. Mahin, superintendent of the city water and light plant, will attend the ninth annual meeting of the Indiana Sanitary and Water Supply association in affiliation with the state board of health at the Claypool hotel, Indianapolis, February 2, 3, 4, and 5. The object of the association is the study of the sources of water supply in the state, their conservation and purification. An urgent invitation has been extended to every Indiana mayor, water works superintendent, health official and sanitary engineer to attend. It is probably that Mayor Bebout will attend, by Dr. E. I. Wooden, secretary of the city health board, stated today he would not be at the meeting.

The program consists of papers on timely topics of interest to the association and of round table discussions. Some eminent authorities have been secured to make addresses. The association and the Indiana Engineering society will hold a joint meeting on Friday evening, February 4.

PLAN FOR TRACK MEET.

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—The Indiana Intercollegiate Athletic association met here today to arrange the second annual track meet under its jurisdiction. The I. A. A. is distinct from the I. C. A. L., in that it includes the three big universities of the state as well as the smaller colleges. The first meet, held last year at Purdue, was won by Notre Dame with Purdue second and DePauw third.

OLD-TIME GOLD CURE—DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Brand Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brand Tea" at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold. Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

Society and Club News

Edited by MISS FRANCES FRAZEE

The Cross Country Club will be entertained tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. Chester Cross, at her home near the city.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist church had an interesting and helpful meeting at the church this afternoon.

Mrs. Chauncey Duncan will be among the guests at a delightful party which Mrs. Earl Greer of Greenfield is giving this evening.

Miss Lenore Norris entertained with a delightful dinner yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Bert Norris of Noble township and Miss Alice Norris of this city.

Miss Grace Buell will entertain the members of the Auction Bridge Club at her home east of the city tomorrow afternoon. The members are requested to leave the traction station on the 1:42 car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Humes are entertaining at dinner this evening Miss Helen Scudder, Robert Humes and Scott Buell. A good time is insured in their ideal little home in which hospitality reigns supreme.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Falmouth M. E. church had an interesting and profitable meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Alfred Collier. After some important business was brought before the society, the hostess served refreshments during a social time enjoyed by the guests.

To form an Epworth League, is the purpose for which the young people of the Methodist church over the age of sixteen, are invited and urged to come to the church this evening at 7:30. The prospects for a League are promising and a large attendance is hoped for this evening to help organize the movement.

PSI IOTA XI.
Psi Iota Xi had an unusually pleasant meeting last evening, when they were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Ernest Mitchell. A short but important business session was held, after which chat and sewing amused the guests. An elaborate luncheon was served near the close of the evening reflecting credit upon the culinary art of the hostess.

CARD PARTY
A number of the friends of Mrs. Lily Rae of Falmouth were pleasantly entertained at her home yesterday afternoon. Several spirited rounds of cards kept the guests enjoyably amused during the afternoon. Several pretty musical numbers also added to the pleasure of the occasion. An elaborate luncheon was served.

No More Backache No More Misery

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides or have any signs of kidney or bladder trouble such as rheumatic pains, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run-down, or bothered with urinary disorders. Solvax will quickly and surely relieve you of your misery. Solvax is the most potent remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sift out all the uric acid and poisons left by the blood, and renders the kidneys and urinary organs clean, vigorous and healthy.

Johnson's Drug Store the popular druggist, says that no medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. They therefore sell Solvax under a positive guarantee to quickly relieve the worst cases of kidney trouble or refund the money. Try Solvax today and if you cannot see and feel a decided change for the better just go to Johnson's Drug store and tell them you want your money back and they will return it without question. This is the strongest argument that can be offered in behalf of any medicine.

K. OF C. PARTY.
Several forms of amusement were combined last evening to make the guests at the Knights of Columbus party in Connersville have a gay evening. Beginning at eight o'clock, progressive euchre furnished the game for the lively players. An elaborate dinner was served at ten o'clock after which the guests danced for several hours. About 116 couples participated in this full evening. Among the guests from this city was Francis Knecht.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Miss Elizabeth Beale was a gay little hostess last evening, when honoring her ninth birthday, she entertained several of her friends with a theatre party. Following a visit to the "movie," refreshments were enjoyed at the candy kitchen. Elizabeth received several beautiful remembrances, in honor of the day. Chaperoned by Miss Esther Black, the following girls enjoyed the party, Margaret Giffin, Frances Payne, and Marian Kinsinger.

SOROSIS CLUB
A meeting of special interest and profit was the meeting of the Sorosis Club held with Mrs. Ed Murphy of Glenwood yesterday afternoon. The program was one of alive and up-to-date subjects. Her trip to the Panama Exposition was vividly told by Miss Jessie Murphy, in a clear and interesting manner. Mrs. Rella Murphy's talk on "Public Schools" was also well prepared. Beautiful music was furnished by Miss Dora Saxon, with several piano solos. Interesting discussions of the subjects brought up, a pleasant social hour preceded the serving of the dainty refreshments by the hostess. About seventeen members of the club were present to enjoy the meeting.

DINNER DANCE.
Over a hundred people composed the jolly crowd that partook of the festivities at the Social Club last evening. The guests all seated at small tables, enjoyed the elegant dinner reflecting praise upon the ladies to whom the credit was due for it. The service of the dinner was as good as the delightful menu. Quite a number of guests enjoyed the informal series of dances, for which Mitchell's Orchestra played. Among the guests were Miss Gladys Henley, of Chicago, Mr. Thompson, of Lafayette, the Misses Mahle and Connell, and Ed Green and Lewis Ebee, the last four of Connersville, who were with Miss Mary Amos.

DINNER PARTY.
Pretty pink and white sweet-peas were the dainty decorations used last evening when Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Aldridge entertained several of their friends at a 6 o'clock dinner. The pretty flowers, with ferns twining about the base of the vase that held them, made a beautiful decoration for the center of the prettily set table. An elegant three-course dinner, charming in its appointments, was served to the congenial crowd of guests who, with interesting story telling and lively conversation, spent an unusually enjoyable evening. Covers at the dinner were laid for the Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Whitsitt, Dr. and Mrs. F. R. McClanahan, Mr. and Mrs. Verl Bebout and Earl Marlatt.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS
An unusually large attendance helped to make the meeting of the Loyal Daughters a pleasant one last evening. When with the Misses Geneva Crull and Letha Creekmore, and Mrs. Ethel Harrell as hostesses, they were entertained at the home of Miss Creekmore. The president, Miss Bessie Morris, presided over the business meeting and the roll was called by Miss Bertha Burton. During the business meeting several gratifying reports were given among them that the balance in the treasury from last year is over $40. A summary of the year's work was also given. Miss Grace Bussell read the scripture lesson. Following this, a pleasant evening made more so by the needlework, a number of games, and some intervening music. A delectable one course lunch was served by the hostesses and greatly enjoyed by the guests, who numbered over forty.

Mrs. Theodore Reed will entertain the members of the Thursday Bridge Club at her home in North Main street tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Forry will entertain the members of the Embroidery Club tomorrow afternoon, honoring her sister, Miss Ruth Miller, of Flora, Ind., who is visiting her during the Depauw recess.

The Lumbermen's convention banquet which is to be held in the Claypool this evening promises to be a very brilliant affair, as a closing feature to the convention. Several lumbermen and their friends from this city are planning to attend and among them are Miss Josephine Kelly, Denning Havens, Harry Green and Charles Sherman.

HONORING MISS MILLER
Complimentary to her sister, Miss Ruth Miller, who is the interesting guest of Mrs. Frank Forry of Gosnell Avenue, a beautifully appointed dinner party was given Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forry. The jolly crowd, which gathered at about six o'clock were seated at the dining table, made attractive with graceful greenery adorning the center of the festive board. Many were the dainty dishes served during the meal which was made more pleasant by the keen conversation furnished by the guests. A delightful evening was spent, with several vocal selections by the guests and a number of piano numbers played by Miss Miller, showing her marked ability.

RULES OFFERED FOR LEAP YEAR

William Kibby Offers Advice to Girls Who Plan to Propose Basing it Upon Phrenology

DIFFERENT TYPES DESCRIBED

Advisor is a Bachelor But His "Don't" May Prove a Help to Some of "Love Lorn"

HUSBAND PICKING RULES

- 1—Don't propose to a man who has thin lips, he will scorn you.
- 2—Don't propose to a man who has just a thin upper lip. He'll scorn you.
- 3—Don't propose to a man whose head runs straight up from the back of his neck. He loves neither home nor wife.
- 4—Don't propose to a man with a super critical eye. He'll make you sorry.
- 5—Don't propose to a man who has a restrained, quiet, indifferent manner or a purley selfish disposition.
- 6—Propose to a man who has full, but not too full, lips. He will love you.
- 7—Propose to a man who has a good sized bump at the base of his head. He's a good family man and loves wife and home.
- 8—If you love a man who has a twinkle in his eye, propose to him. You'll get him.
- 9—If you love a man who has a frank, open manner, you'll probably get him, too.
- 10—If you want a money-maker, get one whose forehead is broad and square and long. He will bring home the cash every time.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 26.—To all daughters of Eve who have leap year intentions, the vocational guide and well known bachelor William J. Kibby, today offers advice concerning the habits, characteristics and dispositions of various sorts of men, which is intended to help the girls win their hearts' desires without suffering rebuff in the process. A good deal of what Kibby says is based upon phrenology.

A man who has thin, straight lips is branded a cold, blooded, stony hearted creature upon whom the dearest girl's appeal would have no effect.

FOR SALE—Ford Roadster, Chevrolet Buick and Ford touring cars. All in good shape. Newhouse & Son, garage, phone 1067. 22441.

FOR RENT—6 room house on West Fifth. See Agnes Winston. 22241.

WANTED—Farmers to buy their good brood sows at Frank Warrick's sale Feb. 4th. 26944.

This sort of man will do his own proposing, run his own wedding and rule his household; and he'll do it more with his head than his heart. But if the man of your choice has full, well-formed lips, Kibby says that you may depend upon his capacity for and inclination to, love. He also is susceptible to the right sort of feminine approach.

Kibby says the way to tell whether the one you love, loves you, is by the coloring of the under lip when he is with you. Every human emotion gives some physical demonstration when it is aroused. The evidence that love has been aroused is given by the deep crimsoning of the under lip. If his under lip is perpetually pale when he is with you, he doesn't love you. If it is crimson and you want him, grab him quick; he won't run. A man with a broad, square, massive forehead is a good business man; he can plan ahead, has good business judgment. If the crown of his head is high and round he is absolutely conscientious, too; and if the back of his head is well rounded out he will love his home, his wife and his children and show them consideration above everything else in the world.

The man whose head is flat on top, flat and almost even with his ears in the back and narrow and foreshortened on the front; whose lips are thin, whose eyes are cold, will not make a good husband in any sense of the word, says Kibby. The longer a man's jaw bone, the greater his capacity for affection, according to Kibby. All these things are as applicable to women as to men, in the expert's opinion.

URNS ESTATE INTO HOME FOR BIRDS

Multi-Millionaire Gives 1,500 Acres Into Sanctuary to Aid National Movement

CENSUS WILL BE TAKEN SOON

(By United Press.)
Greenwich, Conn., Jan. 26.—E. O. Converse, multi-millionaire, is turning his 1,500 acres here into a bird sanctuary to aid the national movement for the conservation of bird life. Mr. Converse and George A. Drew, manager of the big estate, Conyers Manor, are enthusiastic over the plan. An ornithologist of high ability will be selected from the Massachusetts Agricultural College and will be ordered to make Conyers Manor an ideal bird refuge. His work will include the raising of wild ducks and the winter feeding and protection of insectivorous birds, this including the setting out of nesting boxes and lessening the enemies of birds' life. A bird census will be taken at the start and comparisons made as the work progresses. Special attention will be given to the increase of insect eating birds.

FACES DEFICIT OF $100,000,000

United States Treasury is Depleted More Each Day And Party in Power Must Take Blame

J. W. FORDNEY'S COMPARISON

War Tax Revenue Amounts to $85,000,000 Net Balance in General Fund is Down to $50,000,000

Washington, Jan. 26.—Another day of reckoning.

The United States Treasury faces a deficit of over $100,000,000. The party responsible for that deficit must either meet the situation or surrender the reins of power.

In other words, the American people demand that a political party either make good or give up.

The handwriting on the wall was revealed recently by Representative Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan in a discussion of the Democratic tariff and revenue policies before the House. He showed that the Democratic party has failed to make good.

"The Treasury balance is nearly $100,000,000 less than it was when the Republicans were in power," said Mr. Fordney. "The war in Europe is the excuse, but it is not the cause for the deficit. Without that war the Democratic party would have been compelled to admit ere this that their tariff law is a complete failure."

"Comparing nine months from March to November, 1915, with the corresponding nine months from March to November, 1913, imports showed a gain of $72,716,000. Customs receipts showed a loss of $76,000,000. The maximum loss of customs receipts that can be attributed to the war in Europe is $5,520,000 per month, and the war tax, so-called, is producing $6,800,000 per month, or about $1,300,000 per month more than the loss in customs receipts."

"Notwithstanding the fact that the war tax is more than making up for the loss in customs receipts, the balance in the general fund declined $75,003,336 from July 31, 1914, to July 31, 1915. On July 31, 1914, the balance was $143,776,800 and one year later it was down to $68,773,000."

"The Underwood law started out with a good balance in the Treasury. That is not an argument in favor of the Underwood law. Credit for that balance belongs to the preceding Republican tariff law. The real question is, what balance will you have at the end of the operation of the Underwood law?"

"Up to the present time some $85,000,000 has been raised by the so-called war taxes, and notwithstanding this and the fact that importations at present are breaking past records in volume, the balance in the general fund is now down to about $85,000,000."

"When the Underwood act is finally repeated and the reckoning is made, it will show some hundreds of millions raised by objectionable methods of taxation—and an empty treasury."

dealing with the disease question is to prevent disease, not to cure it. The average farm chicken is not worth much doctoring after it is sick."

The instructor then explained the common causes of diseases and methods of prevention. Various ways of getting rid of lice and mites were discussed, and questions were answered concerning treatment of some of the common diseases. A demonstration was given showing the preparation of a cheap, home-lice powder.

Uses of Meat

Miss Garvin, in her demonstration on "The Use of Meat and Meat Substitutes," said that we could reduce somewhat the cost of our food if we would consider more the use of the meat substitutes. Many families have meat three times a day which as a rule gives too much protein for the day's diet, she continued: "Eggs, milk, cheese, nuts, beans and peas form excellent foods to be used in place of meat. For the child especially less meat and more eggs and milk should be used."

"In cooking the meat and meat substitutes a low temperature should be used because they are made harder to digest when cooked by a high temperature."

"In cooking eggs we find that it is not necessary to boil the egg because both the yolk and white cooks or hardens below the boiling point of water. A good method in soft cooking or hard cooking is to use the double boiler. Pour hot water in the bottom next, place the eggs in the top part of the boiler and cover them with water, cover and place on fire. For a soft cooked egg it will take from five to eight minutes according to how one likes the eggs, for a hard cooked egg it requires from thirty to thirty-five minutes."

"Nuts should be used more as a substitute for meat. Many palatable nut dishes may be made as nut loaf, etc. Cheese is an economical form of meat substitutes. It is in a form which is easily kept by wrapping it in a moistened cloth. It may be used in many ways as in souffles, custards, etc."

"When any of the meat substitutes are used as a main part of the meal it is not necessary to serve meat too; that is when we serve eggs we will not need to have steak or some form of meat served at the same time. Miss Garvin demonstrated several ways of using meat substitutes also gave methods in cooking meat."

Poultry Housing

"The average farm hen is a nuisance," said L. L. Jones to the poultry class, "for she is so often where she does not belong. The hen which tries to get into the kitchen when the screen door is opened has not been properly brought up. A good poultry house, properly equipped with nets and feed hoppers, will do much to keep the hen in her place, and in addition will aid in egg production and profit."

In his lecture the instructor gave details of the construction of a simple, inexpensive, practical house for farm use, and by use of models and illustrations, explained the building of labor-saving equipment for the interior. "Plenty of ventilation, lots of sunlight, no draughts over the roosts, plus a dry house, will make a real home for the hens. Make this house convenient for the caretaker, and cheap, and the result will be a good house, no matter what particular type is used," he said.

Pruning

"There are fifty-two days in the year when fruit trees should not be pruned. These days are Sundays. However, for the heavier pruning, the early spring is most satisfactory because wounds heal readily at that time. Rapidly growing but unfruitful trees should be lightly pruned in June."

According to C. B. Durham, the Extension Horticulturist of Purdue, one common fault is the leaving of stubs. The limbs should be cut very close and parallel with the parent branch.

Testing Milk

The chief points of interest brought out by Mr. Mills in his discussion of testing milk for butter fat were:

The Babcock test is a cheap and simple device for determining the percentage of fat in milk, cream, skim milk, buttermilk, whey and cheese. It was invented in 1890 by Dr. S. M. Babcock of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station and ranks among the leading agricultural inventions of modern times. The chief uses of the Babcock test are as follows:

1. It has made possible the payment for milk according to its quality.
2. It has enabled butter and cheese makers to detect undue losses in the process of manufacture.
3. It has made possible the grading up of dairy herds by locating the poor cows.
4. It has, in a large measure, done away with the practice of watering and skimming milk.

The separation of the butter fat from milk with the Babcock test is made possible by (1) the difference between the specific gravity of butter fat and milk serum, (2) the centrifugal force generated in the tester, and (3) burning the solids not fat with a strong acid.

Testing the milk to find its content of butter fat is an interesting process. Any careful and intelligent person can learn it in a short time. A small 4-bottle tester may be bought for $4 or $5, and full and accurate directions for operating the test are sent with each machine.

Animal Husbandry

The work in live stock judging consisted of a study of sheep and horses. The period both in the forenoon and the afternoon was devoted to it, the first half of each period being devoted to a study of sheep and the second half to a study of draft horses. A Hampshire and a Shropshire ewe were the subjects of the study in sheep. The two ewes were used to demonstrate the parts of the sheep from which the best cuts of mutton were taken, and the instructor illustrated the importance of a strong development of these parts, as high quality mutton is a most nutritious and palatable food. The selection of the ewe with a view to make ewes of good breed type, conformation, health and of good fleece was demonstrated with a Shropshire ewe.

For a study of draft horses, Purdue University bought a team of Belgian mares of the highest quality. These mares illustrate the draft type in its highest perfection. They stand about 17 hands high, weigh 4100 pounds, are of massive body, strong and cleaned boned and both have good action.

The instructor urged the importance of every breed of draft horses having an idea of perfection which govern all his breeding and feeding operations. The speaker also urged that men engaged in the production of draft horses should come to an appreciation of the fact that it takes an abundance of good feed to grow a draft horse that at maturity will weigh a ton. He urged wise feeding of the colt, especially during the first two years of his life. "The draft colt should weigh at least 1000 pounds the day it is a year old," he said. "In order to attain this weight the colt must be well fed. A ration of oats to which is added a little bran or linseed oil meal produces a strong development of bone and muscle. The growing colt should get a very limited amount of corn, and that only when fed in connection with some other feeds, such as bran, oil meal and oats. The outlook for soundness in raising both high grade and pure bred draft horses is very encouraging. The market is becoming critical, however, and the grade draft horses must have size and weight if they are to sell at highest prices. American pure bred horses must also be well grown if they are to compete with the horses which are imported annually from the old country. Indiana can raise good draft horses, as has been demonstrated by many of her farmers."

Spraying

"Forty-three is the average cost per season of spraying a mature fruit tree," said C. B. Durham to the horticulture class. "This includes the cost of labor and material for five applications. The corresponding average return is about $3 per tree or a profit of something like $2. These figures show why spraying is rapidly increasing in popularity. The returns are—in some cases much greater, one Indiana tree last year having returned a net profit of $80."

To be profitable the spraying must be done thoroughly with tested spray solutions, he said. The Horticultural Department of Purdue University maintains free service on orchard management, it was learned here at the Short course. Any one wishing aid in this line can secure it on application to the Lafayette institution.

Rearing Young Stock

"Too many dairymen feel that they cannot afford to raise dairy calves and so they depend upon purchasing of cows to keep up with their herds," commented W. O. Mills, in discussing this important phase of farming. "Under ordinary conditions a good dairy heifer can be kept until two years of age at a cost of from $50 to $60, and if it is of the right kind, will produce as much profit in one year as the average cow will in two."

Poorly fed cows frequently have weak, unthrifty calves, said Mr. Mills. Fall calves can usually be raised with less difficulty than spring calves if properly cared for, and the cow will often produce more milk during the following milking period.

"Skim milk has proved to be very valuable for growing calves and a great deal cheaper than feeding whole milk," he asserted. "Removing the fat from the milk does not destroy the growing properties of the milk and the fat is not needed by the calf in large quantities. A little grain will easily supply this."

"The importance of cleanliness asserts itself most emphatically in the rearing of young calves. More trouble results from overfeeding than from underfeeding the calves. However, a poorly fed calf has little chance to develop into a good dairy animal, no matter what the value of its parents. For the first three weeks, 6 to 8 pounds of milk per day is usually sufficient, increasing until at six weeks 10 to 12 pounds may be consumed. At three months, it may drink 14 to 16 pounds."

Manures And Fertilizers

In the last lecture of the course, J. C. Beavers showed how important it is that all farmers fully appreciate the value of livestock for maintaining fertility. "The value of livestock has not been fully recognized because farmers have not been getting full returns from this kind of farming. Unless the manure is properly cared for much of the benefit to be derived from this type of farming will be lost. The manure produced in Indiana one year has a value of $44,338,955 or $197 per farm. Under present conditions about one third of this is lost. This means a loss of $65 per farm, or about one third for every man, woman and child in the state. If this is to be prevented the muddy barnyard a foot deep in soggy manure must disappear."

"The principal loss," Mr. Beavers says, "is due to leaching. This may be prevented by putting in concrete floors and by using sufficient absorbent bedding. It is also essential that water from other sources be prevented from running into the barnyard and washing out the soluble plant foods."

"Fermentation is also responsible for a large loss of nitrogen," he adds. "There are two kinds of fermentation, one taking place in the presence of air and the other when air is excluded. The former is destructive, the latter beneficial. When manure heats and gets white in the interior of a pile much of the nitrogen has escaped into the air. When fermentation takes place in the absence of air, the long, strawy manure gradually breaks up into short or rotted manure. This is a desirable kind of fermentation and may be promoted by keeping the manure mass moist and tightly compacted.

"Contrary to general opinion, manure is not a well balanced fertilizer. It usually contains too much nitrogen in protection to phosphoric acid. Manure treated with phosphate produces much better results than manure alone. The phosphate should be applied at the rate of 30 to 50 pounds per ton of manure, or one-half to one pound per 1000 pounds of animal weight. Broadcasting over the stable is very effective."

"In applying manure make small rather than large applications," recommends Mr. Beavers, "unless manure is plentiful. Manure may be applied for corn or used as a top dressing on wheat. When judiciously used manure is worth from $2 to $3 per ton."

Beautifying Home Grounds

With some of the finest colored lantern slides to be found in the country. C. B. Durham last night at the Short course, illustrated the principles of making a farm more valuable through simple beautification methods. Pictures were shown of places where the expenditure of a few dollars in cleaning up fences, planting shrubs and trees has added hundreds of dollars to the value of farms.

Purdue University now has a distinct division for farm home improvement which has been included in the agricultural work of the institution. The new work is the result of insistent demand from the people of the state for instruction in landscape beautification. It was announced at the lecture last night that aid from the institution would be given free of charge to a limited number of persons in each community.
